Alex Wong

Adjunct Professor of Computer Science at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Seaver College of Science and Engineering

Biography

Alex Wong is an adjunct professor in Computer Science who has taught at Loyola Marymount University since 2018. His specialty areas include Computer Graphics, Image Processing, Computer Vision and Machine Learning. Alex comes to LMU by way UCLA, where he taught as a teaching associate for several years. Alex continues to conduct research at UCLA Henry Samueli School of Engineering and Applied Science, where he works on an array of topics dealing with machine learning in application to computer vision.

Industry Expertise

Computer Software, Research, Education/Learning

Areas of Expertise

Machine Learning, Image Processing, Computer Graphics, Computer Vision

---

Education

University of California, Los Angeles
Ph.D. Computer Science

University of California, Los Angeles
Master of Science Computer Science

University of California, Los Angeles
Bachelor of Science Computer Science

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.