

Amanda Ravenhill

Founder at Syntropy International

San Francisco, CA, US

Biochar and other Comprehensive Anticipatory Sustainable Solutions for a world in flux

Biography

Amanda Ravenhill is skilled at solving for pattern to solve myriad of problems at once and create paradigm shifts. Her passion for global issues comes from the intersection of two forces: being a TCK (Third Culture Kid: her parents were anthropologists in Africa, where she was born), and her muse: Buckminster Fuller. She is a yogini, urban farmer, biker, and mapper who spends her summers in Maine running her own non-profit that teaches children to build traditional wooden boats. Specialties: biochar, improved cookstoves, graphic recording, biomimicry, comprehensive anticipatory design process, sustainable business models in emerging markets

Availability

Keynote, Moderator, Panelist, Workshop, Host/MC

Industry Expertise

Business Services, Agriculture and Farming, Shipbuilding, Women, Training and Development, Environmental Services, Renewables and Environmental, Energy, Financial Services, International Trade and Development

Areas of Expertise

Social Franchising, Biochar, Biochar Stoves, Sustainable Business, Buckminster Fuller, Design Thinking

Education

Presidio Graduate School

MBA Sustainable Business

Clark University

BA International Development and Social Change

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.