

Andy Lymer

Professor of Accounting at Aston University

Birmingham, , GB

Professor Lymer is an expert in taxation, personal finance, financial wellbeing, savings policy development and applied business computing.

Biography

Andy joined the Accounting Department, Aston University in March 2021 and prior to this had an extensive career at the University of Birmingham Business School where he worked for over 25 years, working in a variety of roles including the Director of Business Development. He was also the Director of the Research Centre on Household Assets and Savings Management (CHASM). From 2012 - 2016, he was the Deputy Head (Associate Dean) of the School, was Interim Head of School during 2012. For the four prior years he was the Head of the Department of Accounting and Finance. He researches and teaches in the fields of taxation (UK, comparative and international taxation), of personal finance (financial education/literacy/capability and financial wellbeing) and information systems (particularly the use and impact of the internet). He has held visiting positions at various institutions in the USA and in Australia. For three years he led the Tax Development Programme of HM Treasury. He currently holds positions of Honorary Professor at the University of South Africa and is an Honorary Research Associate bot of the Fin-Ed Centre at Massey University in New Zealand and of the Centre for Household Assets and Savings Management (CHASM) at the University of Birmingham. He is the current Chair of the Tax Research Network (TRN).

Areas of Expertise

Financial Literacy, Applied Business Computing, Business Reporting, Higher Education, Taxation, Personal and Family Finances, Savings Policy Development, Financial Wellbeing, Pensions and Later Life Finances

Education

University of Wales - Aberystwyth

M.Phil Accounting & Computer Science

University of Wales - Aberystwyth

B.A. Accounting & Computer Science

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.