

Anna Muraco

Professor of Sociology at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

I have been a professor in the sociology department at Loyola Marymount University since 2006. My research examines intersections of gay and straight life in aging populations. My particular focus is on family and kinship, caregiving, and friendship across the life course.

Areas of Expertise

Intersection of Gay and Straight Life in Aging, Social Relationships, Gender, Aging and the Life Course, Caregiving and Friendship Across the Life Course, Family and Kinship, Chronically Ill Population, Research Methods, Close Relationships, Sexuality, Caregiving

Affiliations

American Sociological Association, Gerontological Society of America, Pacific Sociological Association, Sociologists for Women in Society

Education

University of California at Davis

Ph.D. Sociology

San Jose State University

M.A. Sociology

Santa Clara University

B.A. Communication

Accomplishments

The Daum Professorship Recipient

Spring 2017. Created from a legacy received from Harry M. Daum, Class of 1938, the Daum Professorship is given annually to a tenured professor in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts with full rank who has exhibited a record of excellence in teaching and advising, scholarship or creative work, service and leadership to the department, college and university. Nominees must demonstrate consistent excellence in all areas of faculty responsibility commensurate with rank.

Martin Duberman Fellowship

2013. Center for Lesbian and Gay Studies, City University of New York.

Postdoctoral Training Fellowship

National Institute of Health Sponsored Training in Social Research on Applied Issues of Aging.
University of Michigan: School of Social Work. 2004-06.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.