Biography

Ben upholds the KEY vision. An advocate for educational enrichment and giving children that edge, Ben co-founded an admissions strategy firm in 2009 alongside fellow St. George's graduate Ali Nathoo. He discovered that helping people achieve their dreams was deeply satisfying, and it drove him to spread the message to a wider audience. Merging with a like-minded admissions strategy firm in 2011, KEY was formed. He is committed to thought leadership in admissions strategy and building legacies through sound advice. He graduated from the University of British Columbia with a Bachelor's degree in psychology.
