Sample Talks

Making it to the top of the List: Can you "Manage" your Sustainability Reputation?

EHS&S managers receive many external information requests for sustainability and EHS performance information. Many of these surveys are used to inform corporate rating lists, others are used by socially responsible investment fund managers to make decisions about what stocks to buy. This workshop will provide tips on what do you need to know to ensure that your business is presented in the best, and most accurate way to investors, customers and the public.
