Biography

Chris Cummins has been speaking professionally for 9 years. He has trained over 15,000 business owners in the last 4 years and physically presented in over 300 offices across the country, and he has learned how to hold audiences in the palm of his hand from the first moment he takes the microphone. A naturally gifted speaker, Chris takes everyone on an exhilarating journey that educates with expert storytelling, dramatic personal stories, and humorous anecdotes. His warm and engaging, yet powerful and dynamic style is irresistible. Whether laughing till their sides ache or alternately pausing to ponder life's ironies along the way, Chris ensures everyone leaves with a fresh outlook on life, renewed enthusiasm for business, and a joyful, infectious spring in their step. Chris often says that people who say something can't be done are often interrupted by someone doing it. In his upcoming book, "You Can't Do That - Oh Yea? Watch Me", Chris interviews people who were told they would never be able to accomplish something and then they went and did it anyway. Chris walks the talk and will take you on a journey that will leave you with the tools for living the "When you Believe, You Achieve" lifestyle. Thank you for arranging an outstanding Leadership and Professional Skills Development day! At the end of the day, I bumped into Chris Cummins, the first speaker of the day. I walked up to him to thank him for being the best part of the day. He got the energy up, and the seminar participants were all smiling, with a shared experience... Definitely with such a positive start, I was prepared to engage with the rest of the speakers. Also the networking aspect of the day was more relaxed since we had a common human bonding experience to start us off. This weekend, I'll distill the highlights of the day from my pile of notes and hand-outs, and form a new reading list. Sincerely, Heather Broughton CFA Vice President Northwater Capital

I just wanted to let you know what an outstanding job Chris did at our sales meetings last week. Everyone loved his presentation and came away with some excellent advice on how to get their accounts to buy more!! He definitely did his homework and was familiar not only with our company but our whole industry. After Deane met him for the first time on Tuesday morning, he came over and asked me; Are you sure we didn't meet Chris before? His warm personality put everyone at ease from the minute he started speaking. He passed along valuable tools that our team will be able to incorporate into their regular sales calls and found a way to put their hefty targets into perspective so they no longer loom as large. Debora
