

Christian Lundblad

Professor of Finance, UNC Kenan-Flagler Business School at UNC-Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, NC, US

Chris Lunblad is an expert in investments and financial economics.

The research of Christian Lundblad spans asset pricing and international finance, with a specialization in emerging market development. His research has been published in top academic journals such as the Journal of Finance, Review of Financial Studies and the Journal of Financial Economics. He is an associate editor for the Journal of Finance. Dr. Lundblad served as a financial economist at the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D.C., where he advised the Board of Governors on international financial market developments.

Education/Learning, Financial Services, International Trade and Development

Asset Pricing, International Finance, Emerging Markets, Finance and Economics, Banking, Investment Management, Emerging Brics Economies

Journal of Finance: Associate Editor, Journal of Banking and Finance: Associate Editor, Financial Management: Associate Editor

Duke University

Ph.D. Financial Economics

Duke University

M.A. Economics

Washington University in St. Louis

B.A. Economics & English literature

Center for Excellence in Investment Management: Director

The Center for Excellence in Investment Management provides resources that facilitate knowledge creation and dissemination throughout the ever-expanding frontiers of finance. CIM helps students, researchers and practitioners keep pace with the rapidly evolving financial services industry through a variety of programs, publications and outreach.

MBA for Executives Teaching Excellence Award

Executive MBA students chose Christian Lundblad for this excellence in teaching award.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.