

Corwin Smidt

Associate Professor of Political Science at Michigan State University

East Lansing, MI, US

Smidt focuses on American electoral and campaign politics, swing voters, presidential nominations, and Michigan elections.

Biography

Corwin D. Smidt is an Associate Professor in the Department of Political Science at Michigan State University. He primarily studies sources of change in American party politics, with an emphasis on how the American mass public and its leaders respond to each other over time through party loyalties, party nominations, and party performance. He is also interested in applying election science findings to improve Michigan campaigns and elections. More information is available at his website: <https://smidtc.gitlab.io/>

Areas of Expertise

Political Behavior, Political Campaigns, American Politics, Swing Voters

Affiliations

Member, American Political Science Association, American Association of Public Opinion Research, Midwest Political Science Association., Communications Director, APSA Elections, Public Opinion, and Voting Behavior Section (2008-2012), Committee Member, Pi Sigma Alpha Award for Best Paper, Midwest Political Science Association (2011), Regular Conference Panel Chair/Discussant: APSA and MPSA, Reviewer for: American Political Science Review , American Journal of Political Science , Journal of Politics , Political Research Quarterly , Political Behavior , Electoral Studies , Legislative Studies Quarterly , American Politics Research , TESS (Time, President, Michigan Political Science Association (2018-2019)

Education

The Ohio State University

Ph. D. Political Science

The Ohio State University

M.A. Political Science

Calvin College

B.A. Political Science

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.