

Craig Callender

Professor of Philosophy at UC San Diego

San Diego, CA, US

Craig Callender specializes in environmental ethics and the philosophy of science, physics, metaphysics and time.

---

Biography

The inaugural co-director of the UC San Diego Institute for Practical Ethics, Craig Callender is a professor of philosophy. Prior work includes within the Department of Philosophy, Logic & Scientific Method at the London School of Economics. Callender obtained their Ph.D. from Rutgers University in 1997. Callender is the president of the Philosophy of Time Society. Their main areas of research and teaching include philosophy of science, philosophy of physics, metaphysics, and environmental ethics. ? Callender's research "What Makes Time Special?" (Oxford University Press, 2017) won the 2018 Lakatos Award. Previous work included editing "The Oxford Handbook of the Philosophy of Time" (2013). They are the author of "Physics Meets Philosophy at the Planck Scale" (2001), "Time, Reality and Experience" (2002) and "Introducing Time" (2010).

---

Areas of Expertise

Philosophy of Time, Metaphysics, Philosophy of Science, Philosophy of Physics, Ethics, Environmental Ethics

---

Affiliations

President, Philosophy of Time Society

---

Education

Rutgers University

Ph.D. Philosophy

Providence College

B.A. Philosophy & Humanities

---

Accomplishments

Lakatos Award for "What Makes Time Special?" (Oxford University Press, 2017)

The London School of Economics and Political Science announces the winners of the 2018 Lakatos Award, given for an outstanding contribution to the philosophy of science, broadly construed, in the form of a book published in English during the previous five years.

---

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.