

Dan Leavitt

Key Account Manager; International Business Development at Original Gourmet Food Company

Marblehead, MA, US

Key Account Manager; International Business Development Executive; Branding & Social Media Enthusiast

Biography

Over the past 10 years, responsibilities in business development, sales, marketing, and brand management helped me develop a broad, valuable skillset. I pride myself on a unique professional versatility that stems from my experiences growing small businesses. On the other hand, I've worked closely with large corporations in roles that required frequent interaction with A-level executives on Fortune 500 and other top accounts. Passion, a competitive nature, and a thirst for knowledge are the driving forces behind my success. At The Original Gourmet Food Company I work with key accounts to create merchandising opportunities and introduce new opportunities to Buyers. Additionally, I oversee new business development in Canada and Mexico as the company expands international distribution.
