Manager at Oklahoma Safety Council

Oklahoma City, OK, US

Author, Speaker, IT Professional

Biography

Daniel Hanttula served as the Director of Information Security for the State of Oklahoma and the Sector Chief of Government Facilities for Oklahoma InfraGard. Prior to his public sector experience, he served as a Head of IT - USA for Engel & Voelkers, a luxury real estate franchise and as a Technical Project Architect for Microsoft Corporation. Daniel has published several books and served as a contributing editor for technical magazines for over a decade; penning hundreds of articles and serving as a guest author for C|NET, HP, ZDTV and more. Daniel was elected the Most Illustrious Grand Master of Cryptic Masons of Oklahoma for 2016-2017. He has founded several professional and civic organizations, and still serves as a trustee, treasurer, and board member for many today. He is well-known as a dynamic and engaging speaker, and as a resource for detailed information on Internet safety, anti-bullying, secret societies and self-improvement. Daniel is best known as the annual speaker for the "Secret Societies of America" course at the University of Oklahoma.
