

Daniel Marschner

Director of International Admission and Outreach at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Lecturer, School of Education

Biography

Daniel Marschner started as Director of International Admission at Loyola Marymount University in 2016. He received his Ph. D. in Educational Studies from the University of Cincinnati with a focus on the cultural acclimation process for international students. As a student, Daniel studied in Australia, Italy, and Nicaragua, and lived in Chile for two and a half years where he worked as a Jesuit Volunteer after completing a Bachelors of Science degree in Psychology at Xavier University. He also holds a Masters of Arts Degree in International Political Economy and Development from Fordham University. He has been involved in leadership roles with organizations such as Cialfo, International ACAC, IC3, NACAC, and Study California. He has also been teaching the Assessment and Research Methods course in the M.A. in Educational Leadership program since 2017.

Areas of Expertise

Quantitative and Qualitative Research, International Student Recruitment, Intercultural Engagement, Global Partnership Development

Affiliations

NACAC, AERA, International ACAC

Education

Xavier University

Bachelors of Science Psychology

Fordham University

Masters of Arts International Political Economy and Development

University of Cincinnati

PhD Education Studies

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.