

Darnise Martin

Clinical Associate Professor of African American Studies at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

Darnise C. Martin holds a doctorate in Religious Studies from the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, California. Dr. Martin is a Clinical Assistant Professor at Loyola Marymount University teaching courses in Theology and African American Studies since 2005. She is the author of a book and several articles including Beyond Christianity: African Americans in a New Thought Church (New York University Press, 2005), and co-editor of Women and New and African Religions, a volume within the Women in Religions Series for Praeger Press (Praeger, 2009). Dr. Martin is also an active scholar and media consultant. She has been featured on Tavis Smiley's radio program on National Public Radio (NPR), has appeared on KJLH radio in Los Angeles, as well as a number of internet radio programs. She was the research consultant on the feature length documentaries Dark Girls and the follow up Light Girls for the Oprah Winfrey Network. She continues to conduct research on the diversities of African-American religions.

Availability

Panelist, Workshop, Author Appearance

Areas of Expertise

womanist theology, African Diaspora Religion, Religious Studies, Theology and Culture, African American History, African American Religion, black liberational theology

Education

Graduate Theological Union

Phd Cultural and Historical Studies of Religion

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.