

Dr. Maria De Lourdes Garcia-Garcia

Deputy Director at Centre for Research on Infectious Disease (Instituto Nacional de Salud Publica)

Mexico City, , MX

Dr. Garcia-Garcia has been interested in research in infectious diseases particularly tuberculosis and vaccine preventable diseases

Biography

Dr. Garcia-Garcia is an advisor for the Working Group for Clinical Care of the National Plan of Preparation and Response to the Influenza Pandemic of the Secretariat of Health, the National Survey of Tuberculosis Drug Resistance of the Secretariat of Health and the Mexican section of the Committee Stop TB. She reviews articles from several journals such as PLOS, Diabetes Care, Tuberculosis, Clinical Infectious Diseases, among others. Dr. Garcia-Garcia has been interested in research in infectious diseases particularly tuberculosis and vaccine preventable diseases. In 2015 she co-authored a book on Vaccines for the Ageing Population published by the Mexican Academy of Medicine. She has published more than 100 research articles, 5 books, and 44 book chapters. She has taught several courses at postgraduate level and directed 23 Specialty, Masters and Doctoral theses at the National Institute of Public Health since 1995 to present.

Industry Expertise

Research

Areas of Expertise

Vaccination, Adult Vaccination, Infectious Diseases, Influenza, Tuberculosis, Vaccines 4 Life Program

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.