

Dr. Sadie Bell, BSc, PhD

Research Fellow at London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine

London, , GB

Currently working on projects to explore vaccination programme delivery in the UK.

Biography

Before joining LSHTM, I studied for my PhD at the University of York. My thesis explored the accessibility and acceptability of HIV services in the UK to adults receiving a positive HIV diagnosis at age 50 years and over, using a mixed-methods approach. For this project, I performed qualitative interviews with adults diagnosed with HIV at age 50+ years and healthcare professionals (HCPs) working in sexual health/HIV services. I also conducted a survey of HCPs working in sexual health/HIV services and analysed national GUM attendance and HIV testing data by age. I completed my BSc in Evidence-Based Nursing Practice (Adult) at the University of York in March 2011. Following this, I worked as a staff nurse on a haematology and oncology unit and as an oncology research nurse before starting my PhD in September 2013.

Areas of Expertise

Older People's Health, Health Services Research, Health Care Policy, Health Inequalities, Disease Control

Affiliations

Department of Global Health and Development, Faculty of Public Health and Policy

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.