

Electra Paskett

Professor of Cancer Research | Department of Internal Medicine at The Ohio State University
Columbus, OH, US

Electra Paskett is the Director of the Division of Cancer Prevention and Control in the College of Medicine.

Biography

Electra D. Paskett, Ph.D., became the Marion N. Rowley Professor of Cancer Research at The Ohio State University in 2002. She is the Director of the Division of Cancer Prevention and Control in the College of Medicine, a professor in the Division of Epidemiology in the College of Public Health and the Associate Director for Population Sciences and Program Leader of the Cancer Control Program in the Comprehensive Cancer Center of the Ohio State University (OSU). She is also Director of the Center for Cancer Health Equity at the James Cancer Hospital. Dr. Paskett's research program is nationally recognized for studying cancer health disparities. The program has four major areas of focus and has evolved to utilize a "team science approach" to understanding and intervening in these problems: energy balance and cancer prevention; promoting the use of early-detection exams; improving access to diagnostic and treatment services; and lymphedema prevention.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Research

Areas of Expertise

Cancer Prevention, Cancer Research, Health Disparities, Public Health

Education

University of Washington
Ph.D. Epidemiology

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.