

Eric Gonzalez Juenke

Associate Professor of Political Science at Michigan State University

East Lansing, MI, US

Latino studies, Latino American politics, minority politics, minority candidates

Biography

Eric Juenke comes to MSU from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He earned his Ph.D from Texas A&M University in 2005. He specializes in minority politics, U.S. electoral institutions, state and local elections, legislative and bureaucratic minority representation, Latino politics, black politics, and democratic theory. Eric serves in a joint appointment between the Department of Political Science and the Department of Chicano and Latino Studies.

Industry Expertise

Research, Government Administration, Education/Learning, Government Relations

Areas of Expertise

Voting Behavior, Latino Politics and Representation, American Politics, U.S Elections, Minority Politics

Affiliations

American Political Science Association

Education

Texas A&M University, 2005

Ph.D. Political Science.

University of North Texas

M.A. Political Science

Accomplishments

Winner of the CQ Press Award

2011 Awarded for the best paper on legislative studies presented at the 2011 American Political Science Association meeting: "An Indelible Imprint? Assessing the Evolution of Racial Politics in Shaping Conflict in Congress During the Civil Rights Era." With Michael Brady and Daniel Lee.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.