

Gabriele Magni

Associate Professor and Chair of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

Gabriele Magni is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Loyola Marymount University. His research examines issues of diversity and representation in advanced democracies. One stream of his work focuses on the causes and consequence of LGBTQ+ political representation. Another stream analyzes immigration attitudes and voting behavior. His research has been published in the American Political Science Review, the American Journal of Political Science, the Journal of Politics, the British Journal of Political Science, and Comparative Political Studies, among other outlets. He has also written for The Washington Post, Politico and The New Republic, and he has provided commentary to The New York Times, The Washington Post, FiveThirtyEight, Fox News, NBC News, ABC News, TIME, Al Jazeera, Associated Press, and Reuters, among others. A first-generation college student, Gabriele grew up in Italy, obtained a Ph.D. from UNC-Chapel Hill, and completed a postdoc at Princeton University before joining LMU.

Education

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Ph.D Political Science

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

M.A. Political Science

University of Bologna

M.A. International Relations and Economic Development

University of Milan

B.A. Political Science and History

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.