

Gary Finnegan

Editor at Vaccines Today

Dublin, , IE

Experienced health journalist, editor and author with special interest in vaccination/vaccines

Biography

Gary Finnegan is an experienced health journalist, editor and author. He has a degree in physiology and an MSc in science communication and is a former Editor of the Irish Medical News and a newspaper columnist. Gary has been the Editor of Vaccines Today since it was founded in 2010 and has served on the Advisory Board of the WHO Vaccine Safety Net network of trustworthy vaccine websites. He was a national winner at the European Commission's EU Health Prize for Journalists in 2009, 2010 and 2011, and a jury member in 2012. He has won two Irish Medical Media Awards for online health journalism and opinion writing. Gary's book, Beijing for Beginners, has nothing to do with vaccination but could be worth a read if you are interested in a light-hearted and wholly out-of-date travel diary.

Areas of Expertise

Newspapers, Media Relations, Journalism, Social Media, Strategic Communications

Education

Dublin City University

M.Sc. Science Communication

Trinity College Dublin

B.A. Science (Physiology)

Accomplishments

Opinion Columnist of the Year - 2013

GSK Irish Medical Media Awards

EU Health Prize for Journalists - National Winner in 2011, 2012, & 2013

European Commission

Online Journalist of the Year - 2007

GSK Medical Media Awards

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.