Kishore Sardesai

?Goutama is a dedicated professional and has good ability in the Information Technology. He is very sincere and has great communication skills. We at Delphi Indonesia were happy with his services.?

James Galvin

?I first met Goutama when he was actively driving the success of the Indonesian Chapter of the Internet Society. Even as a volunteer he demonstrated a strong professional and passionate commitment to working with others to achieve a success that benefited everyone. His engagement in community services is a natural extension of his contributions to IT and Education in Indonesia through written articles and books, and the seminars, workshops, and training he facilitates and conducts. I recommend him as an educator, trainer, and consultant in IT-related areas.?

Fred Baker

?Goutama has been an active and effective leader during a time of leadership turmoil in ISOC Indonesia. He worked well with the international body and maintained good relationships with the local people involved, which assisted in the formation of the updated chapter.?
