Biography

Greg Zlevor specializes in executive development, education, facilitation, and high performing teams. He coaches executives, doctors, and specialists around the world. He facilitates strategic planning sessions, executive retreats, and leadership development programs. He is an expert facilitator, coach, and program designer. Zlevor's work has taken him around the world including Europe, Asia, North America, South America and Australia. He is the founder and director of Westwood International, a company dedicated to executive education, coaching, consulting, and cultural improvement. Every business, team, and individual is unique. Consequently, all initiatives are customized. Each program is tailored to meet specific needs. Greg Zlevor is also the creator of www.Leadership180.org. Drawing from 20 years of executive development experience, Greg provides the latest leadership tools, in conjunction with Leadership Excellence Magazine and Flimp Media Technology. Periodic L180 Videos will present meaningful and pertinent "executive insights in 3 minutes or less." They will often be accompanied by additional materials such as handouts and articles. Having a master's degree from Boston College in spirituality and a bachelor's degree from Lawrence University in Biology, Greg has completed several post-graduate training sessions in organizational development. He is certified by Interaction Associates in several of their coaching models and performance technologies, a certified trainer for Carlson Learning Products, Inscape/Epic, Heartmath, and a sanctioned trainer in Performance Management through Aubrey Daniels Associates, Inc. He is recently published in several books including The Change Champion's Field Guide
