

Jennifer D. Walker

Associate Professor of Special Education at University of Mary Washington

Fredericksburg, VA, US

Dr. Walker specializes in special education, specifically as it relates to behavior and classroom management.

Biography

Jennifer D. Walker, associate professor and program director of special education in the College of Education, teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in special education. Her research interests include positive behavioral intervention supports (PBIS), students with emotional and behavioral disabilities, social skill instruction, teacher education, and exclusionary discipline. She has presented nationally and is a member of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC), the Teacher Educator Division of CEC, and the Council for Learning Disabilities. Dr. Walker has published a textbook, several peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters on PBIS, student engagement and tiered interventions.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning

Areas of Expertise

Special Education, Classroom and Behavior Management, Emotional/Behavioral Disabilities, Positive Behavioral Intervention Supports (PBIS), Exclusionary Discipline, Manifestation Determination Reviews, Executive Functioning, Social Skill Instruction

Affiliations

Council for Exceptional Children, American Educational Research Association, Council for Learning Disabilities

Education

George Mason University

Ph.D. Special Education

George Mason University

M.Ed. Special Education

University of Mary Washington

B.S. Psychology

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.