

Jody Tate

Director of Research and Policy at The Health Policy Partnership

London, , GB

Jody?s role at HPP includes policy initiatives over vaccination, atrial fibrillation, osteoporosis and BRCA-related breast cancer.

Biography

Jody joined The Health Policy Partnership in January 2018 as Associate Director, and was promoted to the role of Director of Research and Policy in October 2019. Leading numerous research projects across the company, Jody?s role at HPP has included policy initiatives in the areas of vaccination, atrial fibrillation, vaccination, osteoporosis, atrial fibrillation, antimicrobial resistance and BRCA-related breast cancer among others. Jody has more than ten years? experience in public health and health policy, focusing on research and project management. Much of her work prior to joining HPP involved supporting clients to design, deliver and evaluate large-scale public health programmes in Africa and Asia, with a focus on health systems strengthening, access to medicines and communicable disease control. She has written or contributed to a range of reports and policy briefs for clients, including the UK and Australian governments, the United Nations, and philanthropic organisations. Jody has a Master?s in Public Health (Global Health) from the University of Manchester and a Master?s in Development Studies from the University of London?s School of Oriental and African Studies.

Areas of Expertise

International Health, Global Health, Health Policy, Interntional Development, Healthcare

Education

University of Manchester

MSc Public Health, Distinction

University of London, School of Oriental & African Studies

MSc Development Studies, Merit

University of Leeds

BA Politics & Sociology

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.