

John Singleton

James P. Wilmot Assistant Professor of Economics at University of Rochester

Rochester, NY, US

Singleton is an expert in public economics and the economics of education, particularly as it relates to school choice.

Biography

Singleton's research focuses on the finance and equity of school choice policies. His articles have appeared in numerous publications, including American Economic Journal: Economic Policy, Papers and Proceedings, Education Finance and Policy, and American Economic Review. In 2020, he was awarded the Russell Sage Foundation-Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Pipeline Grant to study underrepresented students' access to and gains from selective public high school education. Singleton is a reviewer for numerous journals and is a faculty research fellow of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Areas of Expertise

School Boards, School Finance, History of Applied Economics, Economics of Education, Public Economics, School Choice, Charter Schools

Affiliations

National Bureau of Economic Research

Education

Duke University
PhD Economics

University of Colorado
MA Economics

Calvin College
BA Economics

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.