

Joseph Glatthaar, Ph.D.

Stephenson Distinguished Professor of History & Adjunct Professor of the Curriculum in Peace, War and Defense, College of Arts and Sciences at UNC-Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, NC, US

Professor Glatthaar specializes in the American Civil War and American military history.

Joseph Glatthaar specializes and teaches courses in the American Civil War and American military history. He is author of numerous books and articles, including: "The March to the Sea and Beyond: Sherman's Troops in the Savannah and Carolinas Campaigns" (New York University Press, 1985), "Forged in Battle: The Civil War Alliance of Black Soldiers and Their White Officers" (The Free Press, 1989), "Partners in Command: Relationships Between Leaders in the Civil War" (The Free Press, 1994), "Forgotten Allies: The Oneida Indians in the American Revolution" (Hill & Wang, 2007) with James Kirby Martin, "General Lee's Army: From Victory To Defeat" (The Free Press, 2008), and "Soldiering in the Army of Northern Virginia: A Statistical Portrait of the Troops Who Served under Robert E. Lee" (University of North Carolina Press, 2011). He is past president of the Society for Military History. He uses military history to understand or highlight certain aspects of society and culture.

American History, American Military History, The American Civil War

Past President Society for Military History

University of Wisconsin-Madison

Ph.D. History

Rice University

M.A. History

Ohio Wesleyan University

B.A. History

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.