

Julie Byerley, MD, MPH

Professor of Pediatric and Adolescent Medicine, Vice Dean for Education and Chief Education Officer at UNC-Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, NC, US

Dr. Byerley is a pediatrician with extensive knowledge in diagnostic dilemmas and medical education.

Julie Story Byerley, MD, MPH, is the Vice Dean for Education and Chief Education Officer for the UNC School of Medicine. Dr. Byerley is responsible for the curriculum and programs for medical students, including student admissions, assessments, meeting accreditation standards and oversight of student affairs. Also, she contributes to the direction of Graduate Medical Education at UNC Hospitals. Dr. Byerley is a professor of pediatrics and Vice Chair for Education in the Pediatrics Department. She practices as a general pediatrician in the inpatient setting at UNC Hospitals, with clinical focus on diagnostic dilemmas and the care of patients with complex conditions. Dr. Byerley earned a BA in Physics at Rhodes College. Before attending medical school at Duke University, she worked as a high school science teacher. She completed her Pediatrics Residency and Chief Residency at UNC and earned a Master's of Public Health at UNC in Maternal and Child Health. She has been a member of the UNC faculty since 2002.

Acute Care Pediatrics, Adolescent Fatigue, Pediatric Medicine, Medical Education, Adolescent Medicine, Failure to Thrive, Diagnostic Dilemmas, Cultural Competency and Communication Skills

UNC Children's Primary Care Program, Division of General Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Medicine

Rhodes College
BA Physics

Duke University
MD Medicine

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Residency Pediatrics

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Chief Residency Pediatrics

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Master of Public Health Maternal and Child Health

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.