

Kenneth A. Frank

Professor of Measurement and Quantitative Methods at Michigan State University

East Lansing, MI, US

Kenneth A. Frank studies how roles and relationships among teachers affect classroom practices and school decision-making.

Biography

An expert on social networks, Frank studies how roles and relationships among teachers affect classroom practices and school decision-making, including the implementation of major education reforms. He has applied his knowledge on social decision-making to the contexts of fishing and wildlife protection.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning

Areas of Expertise

Social Networks Among Teachers and the Impact of Social Dynamics in Schools, Causal Inference and Education Research Methods, Adolescent Decision-making in Social Contexts

Education

University of Chicago Department of Education

Ph.D. Measurement, Evaluation, and Statistical Analysis

University of Michigan School of Education

M.A. Higher and Adult Continuing Education

University of Michigan

B.A. Statistics and English

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.