

Kevin Butler

Professor at University of Florida

Gainesville, FL, US

Kevin Butler directs the Florida Institute for Cybersecurity Research and studies the security of computers and the privacy of tech users.

Biography

Kevin Butler is the director of the Florida Institute for Cybersecurity Research. Kevin's research focuses on the security of computing devices, systems and networks. His group has recently worked on securing embedded systems and protocols, mobile device security and privacy, establishing the trustworthiness of data and maintaining its provenance, protection of Internet traffic and the SSL infrastructure and attacks and defenses against the cloud infrastructure. Some of Kevin's other research areas of interest include securing Internet routing, malware propagation, applied cryptosystems, adversarial machine learning, cyber-physical systems and trustworthy computing.

Areas of Expertise

At-Risk Users, Cybersecurity, Embedded Systems Security, Mobile Security, Privacy, Trustworthy Computing

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.