Kris Buytaert

CoFounder & CTO at Inuits

Antwerp Area, Belgium, , BE

Devops, Linux and Open Source Expert

Biography

Kris Buytaert is a long time Linux and Open Source Consultant. He's one of instigators of the devops movement, currently working for Inuits He is frequently speaking at, or organizing different international conferences and has written about the same subjects in different Books, Papers and Articles He spends most of his time working on bridging the gap between developers and operations with a strong focus on High Availability, Scalability , Virtualisation and Large Infrastructure Management projects hence trying to build infrastructures that can survive the 10th floor test, better known today as the cloud while actively promoting the devops idea ! His blog titled "Everything is a Freaking DNS Problem" can be found at http://www.krisbuytaert.be/blog/

Availability

Keynote, Panelist

Industry Expertise

Information Technology and Services, Information Services, Computer Software

---

Areas of Expertise

Devops, Opensource, Infrastructure as Code

Sample Talks

7 Tools for your devops stack

Technology moves fast, most people are so busy they don?t have time to keep up with what?s new, or sometimes don?t really understand the need for these tools, until they take 5 minutes and listen to somebody using them. This talk will go over a bunch of unmissable open source system tools tools, some of them didn?t even exist 2 years ago, We won?t spill which ones we?ll cover .. but rest assured .. you?ll learn a few Technology moves fast, most people are so busy they don?t have time to keep

---

Event Appearances

lanyrd.com/profile/krisbuytaert/

Life