

Kristine Jacquin, Ph.D.

Academic Program Developer and Director at Fielding Graduate University

Santa Barbara, CA, US

Psychology professor and licensed clinical psychologist with a consulting practice focused on forensic and neuropsychological evaluations

---

Biography

Kristine M. Jacquin, PhD is Academic Program Developer and Director at Fielding Graduate University. Dr. Jacquin is a licensed clinical psychologist with a consulting practice focused on forensic and neuropsychological evaluations. Dr. Jacquin earned her undergraduate degree in psychology with a concentration in African studies at Northwestern University. She earned her PhD in clinical psychology at the University of Texas at Austin. After a career as a tenured professor at a research university, Dr. Jacquin decided to focus her academic career on student development, research, and teaching of graduate students.

---

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Health and Wellness, Mental Health Care, Research, Training and Development

---

Areas of Expertise

Forensic Psychology, Neuropsychology, Substance Abuse in Interpersonal Violence Victims, Use and Abuse of Prescription Psychostimulants, Intellectual Disability in Capital Crimes, Preventing and Treating Child Abuse, Psychopharmacology, Juror Perceptions of Sexually Violent Offenses, Prediction and Prevention of Sexual Offending, Clinical Psychology Preparatory Courses, Biological Psychology, Psychopathology, Assessment, Cognitive Behavioural Therapy, Prediction and Prevention of Stalking

---

Affiliations

American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities, American College of Forensic Psychology, American Psychological Association, American Society of Trial Consultants, Association for Behavioural and Cognitive Therapies, Association for Psychological Science, California Psychological Association, International Academy of Law and Mental Health, International Association for Correctional and Forensic Psychology, International Association for Forensic Mental Health Services, International Society for Research on Aggression, National Academy of Neuropsychology, Santa Barbara County Psychological Association

---

Event Appearances

Acetaminophen as pharmacotherapy for alleviating emotional pain (Adamson-Grimmer, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Distinct cognitive characteristics predict development of Cluster C personality disorders (Allen, D., Bancroft, M., McGuire, K., Montgomery, P., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Relative influence of case variables and juror characteristics on decisions in a sexual abuse trial (Bloodworth, N., Broadnax, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Early maladaptive schemas predict depression, anxiety, and self-esteem (Chavez, L., Knott-Van Den Berg, E., Allen, D.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Benefits of medical cannabis (Collins, H. N., Brechner, L. M., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Childhood exposure to family violence predicts acceptance of provoked aggression in adults (Crawford, C. D., Camacho, N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
Washington, DC

Neuropsychological consequences of medical use of cannabis (Crawford, C. D., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Building resiliency factors for LGBTQ adolescents at risk for homelessness (Crosby, T., Rehfeld, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

The relationship between hostility toward women and acceptance of other forms of hate-based violence (Cuff, J. A. N., Camacho, N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

An international analysis of the relationship between human development indicators and homicide rates (Cunningham, F., Nail, H., Hallock, E., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Police officers? perception of hostile intent and excessive use of force differ by race (Drakulic, C., Johnson, M., Crawford, C. D., Collins, H. N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Disconnection and rejection schemas predict different personality disorders in women and men (Duffy, J., Richards, H.C., Green, J.E., & Jacquin, K.M.)
125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Teaching psychology to enhance acceptance into doctoral programs (Jacquin, K.M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Neuropsychological consequences of cannabis use (Jacquin, K.M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Negative police behaviors and social problem solving skills differ by age (Johnson, M., Drakulic, C., LeCote, M. S., Collins, H. N., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

The impact of crime drama viewing on criminal profiler accuracy (Johnson, M., Hitzemann, S. M., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Jurors are biased by a murder defendant's social and economic status (Knott-van den Berg, E., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Victim and defendant attractiveness and ethnicity impact jury decisions in a rape trial (Nail, H., Camacho, N., Green, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Cognitive and attitudinal predictors of Cluster A personality disorders (Roberson, B., Gouch, T., Allen, D., Mott, R., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Childhood origins of the maladaptive schemas underlying personality disorders (Sorensen, H., Chavez, L., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Victim terrorism connections and defendant veteran status impact juror decisions in a homicide trial (Stanton, D., Williams, K. N., Finn, A., Dockery, R., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Cognitive and attitudinal characteristics distinguish cluster B personality disorders (Stone, A., Roberson, B., Gouch, T., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

An international analysis of the relationship between gender inequality and crimes against women (Wright, T., Cunningham, F., Cuff, J. A. N., & Jacquin, K. M.)

125th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Coping mechanisms predict risky sexual behavior (Bancroft, M., Camacho, N., Whitmer, T., Mott, R., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Overprediction of severe weather in females and males (Bancroft, M., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

The relationship between childhood exposure to violence and social problem solving skills in early adulthood (Camacho, N., & Jacquin, K.M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Early maladaptive schemas predict cluster A personality disorder characteristics in men and women (Chavez, L., Brechner, L. M., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

The relative influence of case variables and juror characteristics on verdicts in a child sexual abuse trial (Chavez, L., Broadnax, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

The relationship between acceptance of violence and aggressive behavior in young adults (Dockery, R., Kaminski, M. A., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Does group deliberation reduce gender biased juror decisions in a child sexual abuse trial? (Duffy, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Jury foreperson gender influences verdicts in a sexual harassment trial (Finn, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

The intergenerational cycle of incarceration differs for men and women (Finn, A., Fava, L., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Validity and usefulness of an abbreviated version of the Schema Questionnaire (Gilooly, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Anger explains the relationship between childhood history of parental incarceration and adult aggression (Hernandez, L. T., Whitmer, T., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Young adults' acceptance of law enforcement violence varies by gender and racial identity (Kaminski, M., Crawford, C., Cuff, J.A.N., Norman, L., & Jacquin, K.M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Familial incarceration during childhood increases risk of adult aggression in both men and women (Midgette, S., McGuire, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)

29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Childhood history of parental incarceration increases risk of adult aggression in both women and men (Montgomery, P., Knott-Van Den Berg, E., Bonella, K., & Jacquin, K.M.)
29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Jurors judge mentally ill criminal defendants more harshly than other defendants in a homicide trial (Mott, R., Woods, M., & Jacquin, K. M.)
29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Defendant's social and economic status predict decisions in a murder trial better than juror characteristics (Woods, M., & Jacquin, K. M.)
29th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Optimal neuropsychological testing conditions: Evaluating the influence of fatigue and attention on validity (Summers, H. N., Olson, S. A., Rehfeld, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
Annual conference of the American Association of Pediatric Neuropsychology

Neuropsychological consequences of taking SSRIs linked to violence (Adamson-Grimmer, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Colored and invisible: Mis-treatment of depression in minority women (Armstrong, A., Blassingame, J., & Jacquin, K. M.) - Presentation won first place in the student poster competition
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Racial biases in arrests and convictions in the U.S. (Blassingame, J., Armstrong, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The influence of rape victim alcohol consumption on jurors' acceptance of sexual behaviors (Boyle, E., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The role of neuropsychological evidence in juror decision making (Crichlow, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The influence of victim and defendant gender on juror decisions in a child sexual abuse trial (Douglass, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Psychological autopsies as a type of profile (Drakulic, C., Johnson, M., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The psychological and legal risks for children of narcissistic parents (Duffy, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Dogs in the courthouse: Challenges and benefits to the use of facility dogs (Eccles, E., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Autism awareness in law enforcement: Training law enforcement personnel on persons with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) (Fernandez, Y., Quiles, J., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT): An effective approach for reducing recidivism and preventing drug-related crimes (Hernandez, L., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Applying motivational interviewing to sex offender treatment (Hicks, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Using the neuropsychological consequences of cannabis use as a mitigating factor in criminal sentencing (Jacquin, K. M., Blassingame, J., & Armstrong, A.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Jury foreperson gender influences individual juror judgments of a rape defendant's guilt (McCrea, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Complementary alternative medicines: Treatment for military populations suffering traumatic brain injury and post traumatic stress disorder (McGuire, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Drug trafficking recidivism: The need for treatment and prevention programs (Norman, L., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Regional differences in negative police behaviors (Quiles, J., Camacho, N. D., Summers, H. N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Forensic implications of traumatic brain injury and violence in athletes (Rehfeld, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The relationship between neuropsychological abilities and anger and hostility in young adults (Rehfeld, S., Olson, S., Smith, S. Z., Hernandez, L., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Military related traumatic brain injury and criminal litigation: A case for veteran's court (Stanton, D., & Jacquin, K. M.)
33rd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Childhood exposure to violence predicts adult sexual perpetration (Bennett, A. R., Boyle, E. J., Hicks, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Juror perceptions of eyewitness testimony in a sexual abuse trial with group deliberation (Boyle, E. J., Echols, M. E., McMichael, J. D., Musick, J. J., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Over-prediction of severe weather increases severe weather phobia and PTSD symptomatology (Collins, H., Cusolito, P., Stanton, D., Cuthbert, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Early maladaptive schemas predict cluster A personality disorder characteristics in college students (Detrick, S., & Jacquin, K.M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Non-medical prescription psychostimulant use is associated with illegal drug use (Hitzemann, S. M., Johnson, M., Sancho, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Early maladaptive schemas predict cluster C personality disorder characteristics in college students (Olson, S., Rehfeld, S., Green, J., Gilstrap, D., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

The relationship between childhood maltreatment and sexual victimization in adulthood (Raja, K., Taha, H., Davis, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

The relationship between paternal incarceration, maternal parenting behaviors, and offspring incarceration in African-American and European-American young adults (Smith, S. Z.,...Jacquin, K.M.)

50th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

The influence of group socialization on authoritarianism and social dominance orientation in law enforcement culture (Wetterer, C., & Jacquin, K. M.)

Annual conference of the Society for Police and Criminal Psychology

Juror attitudes about intellectual disability impact capital sentencing more than case variables (Blassingame, J. C., Armstrong, A. K., & Jacquin, K. M.)

124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Childhood victimization by peers and current social support predict adult relational aggression (Bloodworth, N., & Jacquin, K. M.)

124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Visual perceptual skills predict improvements in reading among below-grade-level high school readers (Boyle, E. J., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Childhood exposure to neighborhood violence predicts aggression better than home and school violence (Camacho, N. D., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Early maladaptive schemas predict personality disorder characteristics in young adults (Crosby, T., Bloodworth, N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Nonmedical users endorse more permissive beliefs on prescription psychostimulants than other groups (Cuthbert, K., Pierce-Cloutier, M. K., & Jacquin, K. M.) - Recipient of a NIDA travel award
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Defendant and victim sexual orientation affect juror verdicts in a same-sex rape trial (Davis, A. S., Masilla, A. G., Lanaville, D., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Group deliberation reduces gender bias in a sexual harassment trial (Detrick, S., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Childhood victimization and witnessing violence predict adult physical and verbal aggression (Diehl, M. L., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Anger and hostility in the young adult children of incarcerated parents (Douglass, A., Sancho, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Using social problem solving to predict negative police behaviors (Drakulic, C., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Visual perceptual skills predict improvements in reading among elementary school students (Fernandez, Y., Summers, H. N., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Juror characteristics and defendant gender impact juror decisions in a sexual harassment trial (Hafer, A., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

The impact of cannabis on neuropsychological functioning (Jacquin, K.M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Neuropsychological abilities predict physical aggression in young adults (Pierce-Cloutier, M., Cuthbert, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Early maladaptive schemas predict substance abuse behaviors in college students (Quiles Tajés, J., Bishop, A. & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Vocabulary skills do not predict improvements in reading comprehension in struggling young readers (Richards, H. & Jacquin, K.M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association : Recipient of the Division 16 Student Poster Award

Vocabulary level predicts reading improvements in high school students (Scott, T. & Jacquin, K.M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Witnessing childhood violence and violent victimization are predictors of adult sexual perpetration (Tatum, M., Raja, K., & Jacquin, K. M.)
124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Juror characteristics have a greater impact than organizational climate on juror decisions in a military sexual harassment case
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Sexual harassment in the military: Civilian versus military juror judgments
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Maternal parenting does not mediate the relationship between paternal incarceration and offspring incarceration
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Social problem solving predicts anger, aggression, and hostility in young adults
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Juror sexism and expectancies about alcohol use predict juror decisions in the murder trial of a woman who killed her abusive husband
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Spouse alcohol use impacts juror perceptions of a woman who killed her abusive husband
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Strength of physical evidence influences rape trial verdicts more than juror characteristics
28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

The relative influence of juror attitudes and physical evidence on rape trial verdicts

28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Defendant gender but not sexual orientation impacts juror decisions in a child sexual abuse case

28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Childhood exposure to violence predicts anger and hostility in young adults

28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Childhood exposure to violence in the home and neighborhood predict adult sexual victimization

28th Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science

Forensic evaluation of child abuse

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Neurobiological assessment considerations in juvenile transfers and competency evaluations

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Effects of locus of control and gender on verbally aggressive responses to provocation

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Juror judgments of when consensual behavior becomes rape

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Effects of alcohol consumption and prior consensual behavior on mock juror decisions in a rape trial

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Risky sexual behavior and sexual aggression in young adults with a history of parental incarceration

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Gender differences in attitudes about crime and punishment

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Can severe weather events cause PTSD-related disability or civil litigation claims of psychological damages?

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Beliefs about correctional alternatives for non-violent offenders

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The impact of plaintiff and defendant gender on juror decision in sexual harassment trials

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The relationship between attitudes about crime and corrections and support for correctional alternatives for violent offenders

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Juror decisions change after group deliberation in a same-sex rape trial

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Victim and defendant sexual orientation affect juror judgments of the victim and defendant in a same-sex rape trial

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The influence of peer behavior on responses to aggressive provocation

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

The impact of knowledge on criminal profiling accuracy for sexual homicide offenders

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Dialectical behavior therapy: Treatment for aggressive and self-injurious behaviors in correctional settings

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Influence of physical evidence and psychological disorder testimony on rape trial verdicts

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Effects of prior consensual behavior on mock juror decisions in a rape trial

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Narcissism as a predictor of violent attitudes and behaviors in young adults

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Aggressive responses to provocation in a relationship context

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Problem-focused and emotion-focused coping influence aggressive responses to provocation and frustration

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Public support for restorative justice options for drug offenders

32nd Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Neuropsychological test correlates of Cluster B personality disorders

123rd Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Parental and familial incarceration increase risk of offspring incarceration in African-American and European-American young adults

123rd Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Reading practice factors enhance intervention effects for struggling readers

123rd Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association

Juror attitudes and victim and defendant sexual orientation affect juror decisions in a rape trial

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Parental incarceration predicts offspring incarceration in African-American and European-American young adults

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Neuropsychological test performance associated with subclinical mania, paranoia, and schizophrenia symptoms in young adults

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Neuropsychological test performance associated with anxiety and anxiety related disorders

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Deficits in working memory as early warning signs for depression and suicidality in college students

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Rape trial verdicts influenced by defendant sexual orientation and victim gender but not juror gender

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Beliefs about non-medical use of prescription psychostimulants

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Neuropsychological correlates of illegal psychostimulant use

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Juror characteristics and victim and defendant sexual orientation impact juror decisions in a rape trial.

27th Association for Psychological Science Annual Convention

Jury foreperson gender influences individual juror judgments of a rape defendant's guilt

Annual Conference of the Southwestern Psychological Association

?I expected it to happen/I knew he'd lost control?: The impact of PTSD on the criminal justice system after the promulgation of DSM-5

31st Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Forensic skills workshop: Ethical, Legal, and Professional Issues

31st Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Brain bases of psychological disorders

31st Annual Symposium of the American College of Forensic Psychology

Parental and familial incarceration predict adult sexual aggression in African-American young adults

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

Jury deliberation does not reduce juror bias about race and sexual orientation in a same-sex rape trial

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

Parental and familial incarceration predict aggression in African-American and European-American young adults

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

Parental abuse and non-parental sexual victimization during childhood predict young adult sexual perpetration

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

Parental abuse but not parental incarceration predicts sexual perpetration in African-American and European-American young adults

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

Rape trial jurors biased by sexual orientation and victim gender but not race

Annual Meeting of the American Psychology-Law Society

---

Education

University of Texas at Austin

PhD Psychology

University of Texas at Austin

MA Psychology

Northwestern University

BA Psychology

---

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.