

Lin Zheng

Clinical Associate Professor of Accounting at Indiana University, Kelley School of Business
Indianapolis, IN, US

Lin Zheng is an accounting expert, focused on financial reporting and disclosure, international accounting and corporate governance.

Biography

Lin Zheng is a clinical associate professor of accounting at the Kelley School of Business in Indianapolis. Her areas of expertise include financial reporting and disclosure, international accounting, corporate governance and firm performance, and corporate social responsibility. A certified public accountant, Zheng received her Ph.D. in accounting from the University of Alabama. She earned her undergraduate degree in accounting from China's Xiamen University in 1997. Zheng worked as an auditor and financial analyst for two years before coming to the United States to pursue her Ph.D. Zheng taught at a number of universities across the country before coming to the Kelley School in 2014. Zheng was recently appointed an IUPUI faculty fellow, focused on strengthening internalization efforts across the campus and at the Kelley School. A newly-elected member of the Carmel Clay School Board, Zheng is also working to bring global learning opportunities to students in central Indiana before college.

Industry Expertise

Research, Accounting, Education/Learning

Areas of Expertise

Financial Reporting and Disclosure, Corporate Governance and Firm Performance, International Accounting, Corporate Social Responsibility

Secondary Titles

IUPUI Faculty Fellow

Education

University of Alabama
Ph.D.

University of Alabama
MAcc Accounting

Xiamen University
B.E. Economics

Accomplishments

McGraw-Hill/Irwin Distinguished Paper Award
2008 MBAA International Conference

Best Paper Award

2006 The 1st Journal of Contemporary Accounting and Economics Symposium, Hong Kong

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.