Biography

Marta P. Baltodano is a Professor in the Department of Urban Education at Loyola Marymount University. Her research focuses on neoliberalism, teachers' beliefs on social justice, and interracial conflicts in Los Angeles. Her teaching includes issues of critical educational theory, globalization, social justice, and qualitative research. Baltodano is the Past-president of the Council of Anthropology and Education (CAE) of the American Anthropological Association (AAA), and she has served CAE in different capacities, among them: Chair of the committee on Anthropological Studies of Schools and Culture, Contributing Editor of CAE for Anthropology News, and Co-Chair of CAE's Mission Committee. Baltodano is one of the founding members of the California Consortium for Critical Educators (CCCE), the founder of AERA's SIG Critical Educators for Social Justice (CESJ), and the 2008-2009 Program Co-Chair of AERA's Division G (Social Context of Education). Baltodano co-edited the book "The Critical Pedagogy Reader" (Darder, Baltodano & Torres, 2002, 2008, 2017, Routledge), the compendium "Social Justice, Peace and Environmental Education Standards" (Andrzejewski, Baltodano, & Symcox, 2009, Routledge), and is the author of the book (2015) "The Appropriation of Social Justice in Education" (Rowman & Littlefield). Baltodano has published several articles in peer-refereed journals and is currently writing a book about the corporatization of higher education.
