

Megan Bowe

Co-Canner at Rustici Software

Greater New York City Area, NY, US

Tin Can API strategist. Designer of the unexpected.

Biography

Megan Bowe is a designer and strategist with a history of working with learning-technology startups. Championing data-driven design, Megan focuses on projects that require a systems design perspective to bring learning, portability of data, and formative analysis together. Megan currently helps people build strategies and design products using the Tin Can API at Rustici Software, and she co-created Up to All of Us, an un-conference focused on advancing the intersections between learning, design, and technology.
