Melissa Nemeth

Senior Lecturer in Operations and Decision Technology at Kelley School of Business at Indiana University

Indianapolis, IN, US

Melissa Nemeth is a computer systems expert, focusing on Microsoft Office and network analysis.

Biography

Melissa Nemeth is a full time senior lecturer and the K201 Course Coordinator for Indiana University Kelley School of Business in Indianapolis. K201 is a business-required computer course at the Kelley School in Indianapolis. Instructors teach computer concepts, intro to advanced spreadsheets, and intermediate database skills (using MS Excel and Access for case examples). Course instructors partner with the Mathematics Assistance Center (MAC) on campus to offer tutoring for K201 at no charge to students. Nemeth earned a Bachelors Degree in Personnel Management from Ball State University and a Masters Degree in Adult Education from Indiana University in Indianapolis, IN. Nemeth worked in a computer lab through college. Later, she worked at a hospital help desk, did computer consulting, managed a reseller?s training department and returned to IUPUI on the education side in 1997. Nemeth and her husband have been married since 1990, and they have been blessed with four children. When not teaching or coordinating a course, Nemeth enjoys family time, her kids' activities, and family vacations (Disney World and Disneyland are favorites!).

Industry Expertise

Internet, Computer Networking, Education/Learning, Computer Software, Information Technology and Services

Areas of Expertise

Application Software (Word Processors, Spreadsheets, Database, Email packages), MOS Certified Excel & Access, Computers in Business, Decision Sciences, Computer Simulation (Cengage SAM network administrator with Canvas integration; McGraw Hill SimNet network administrator; Pearson MyItlab network administrator)

Education

Indiana University
M.S.

Ball State University
B.S.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by