Biography

I am an instructional designer! Instructional designing to improve the life quality of people in real sense. As an instructional designer, I love creating combinations! combination of different fields Some of them are as follows: Training speech and presentation +modern education technology The audience needs analysis + MBTI Motivational speech + science-based researches Speech anxiety management + ACT psychology and mindfulness Training communication skills + choice theory Counseling sessions management+ Inquiry and coaching I am glad that these combinations have already had huge effects, and I am glad that since the establishment of +1 in 2012 we have used the slogan of being more effective than one single person to make to world a much prettier place to live. This is my mantra: Today I Will Do What Others Won?t, So Tomorrow I Can Accomplish What Others Can?t. If you need more information about me you can click on the link below:
