

Nyema Guannu

Senior Instructor of Economics at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

Nyema Guannu is a doctoral student in economics (graduation in spring 2020) at the Claremont Graduate University. He earned a Master's degree in international studies from the University of Denver - Korbel School of International Studies and holds concurrent Bachelor's degrees in economics, philosophy, and political science from Arizona State University. His research interests include economic development, international trade, and international finance. This research includes analysis of the interaction of regional integration, economic development and economic growth in Sub-Saharan Africa, the relationship between health and economic development, and studies of exchange rates, capital account/external liberalization, and international financial institutions. Nyema Guannu was born in Monrovia, Liberia.

Areas of Expertise

Economic Development and Growth in Sub-Saharan Africa, International Trade, African Regional Integration and Development, International Finance and Monetary Relations

Affiliations

American Economic Society, Western Economic Association International, African Studies Association, International Studies Association, American Political Science Association

Event Appearances

Breaking Down the Barriers: Universal Design in Higher Education
Lilly Conference on College and University Teaching, Pomona, CA

Education

Claremont Graduate University
PhD Economics-Political Science

American University
M.A. Philosophy and Social Policy

University of Denver
M.A. International Studies

University of Denver
Certificate Economic Development

Arizona State University
B.A. Philosophy, Political Science, Economics

Accomplishments

Loyola Marymount University Economics Teacher Of The Year
2018

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.