

Peter Campbell, Ph.D.

Associate Professor of Political Science at Baylor University

Waco, TX, US

Professor Campbell studies international security, civil-military relations, international relations and policy relevance

Biography

Peter Campbell, Ph.D., is associate professor of political science in Baylor University's College of Arts & Sciences. He is the author of two books: "Military Realism: The Logic and Limits of Force and Innovation in the U.S. Army" and "Farewell to the Marshal Statesman: The Decline of Military Experience Among Politicians and its Consequences." Campbell studies international security, civil-military relations, strategy and national security decision-making, international relations scholarship and policy relevance, insurgency and counterinsurgency, the just war tradition, unconventional warfare and advanced military technology, military culture, and the effects of cyber capabilities on conflict escalation.

Areas of Expertise

Just War Theory, International Relations, International Security, Counterinsurgency

Education

University of Notre Dame

Ph.D. Political Science

King's College London, United Kingdom

M.A. War Studies

University of Winnipeg, Canada

B.A.H. Philosophy

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.