New Orleans, LA, US

Professor Ricchiuti is an expert in finance, investments, valuation, equity research, financial modeling and financial analysis.

Biography

Peter Ricchiuti is the business professor you wish you had back in college. His humor and insight have twice made him the top professor at Tulane University?s Freeman School of Business. In a worldwide competition, Peter?s teaching delivery skills placed him atop a field of professors from 500 universities representing 43 countries. Peter is a graduate of Babson College, started his career at the investment firm of Kidder Peabody & Co and later served as the assistant state treasurer for Louisiana. There he successfully managed the State?s $3 billion investment portfolio. He went on to earn his MBA from the University of New Orleans. In 1993 he founded Tulane?s nationally acclaimed Burkenroad Reports student stock research program (www.burkenroad.org). Here he leads 200 business students in search of overlooked and underpriced stocks in six southern states. He and his program have been featured widely in the financial press including; The Wall Street Journal, BARRON'S and The New York Times. From Vancouver to Jupiter, Peter has addressed over 1000 groups in 47 states. These include groups of nuns, tin can manufacturers, money managers, waterpark owners, insurance professionals and NFL players. He has even done a couple of TED TALKS. He is also an author, husband and a dad who has attended baseball games at all 30 current major league ballparks.
