

Robbie Nakatsu, Ph.D.

Professor of Information Systems and Business Analytics, College of Business Administration at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Biography

You can contact Robbie Nakatsu at Robbie.Nakatsu@lmu.edu. Robbie T. Nakatsu is a Professor of Information Systems and Business Analytics with expertise in the management of IT, AI / Machine Learning, data management, IT outsourcing, and crowdsourcing. He has taught both undergraduate and graduate courses in management information systems, database management systems, and other topics in IT including programming languages and applications in AI. Prior to joining the faculty, Nakatsu served as a consultant in the MIS Department for Pepsi Co., a senior research analyst for CBS Records (Columbia House Division), and as an analyst in the Information Systems Department at Morgan Stanley. He has published in MIS and computer science journals such as Communications of the ACM, Information & Management, IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man and Cybernetics, Journal of Information Science, and International Journal of Intelligent Systems. In 2010, Nakatsu published a book titled "Diagrammatic Reasoning in AI." Nakatsu is a member of the Association for Computing Machinery and the Association for Information Systems.

Industry Expertise

Training and Development, Education/Learning, Research

Areas of Expertise

Crowdsourcing, Information Technology Management, Data Science, Data Management, Machine Learning, Artificial Intelligence

Education

University of British Columbia

Ph.D. Management Information Systems

Yale University

B.A. Applied Mathematics

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.