

Rosanna Perotti

Professor of Political Science at Hofstra University

Hempstead, NY, US

Professor Perotti's expertise is in American politics, including Congress, elections and political parties.

Biography

Dr. Perotti is qualified to discuss: 2008 Presidential election Media and politics U.S. political parties U.S. national elections American Politics Bill Clinton Presidency Presidency of George H. W. Bush Public opinion trends Dr. Perotti has taught courses including The Media and Politics, American Politics, The Clinton Presidency, Political Parties and the Voter, and Public Opinion and Political Communication. She was heavily involved in planning and publishing the proceedings of two Presidential Conferences at Hofstra University: on the presidency of George H. W. Bush (1997), and the presidency of Bill Clinton (2005). Dr. Perotti has served on the program committees of the New York State, Northeast, and American Political Science Associations. She has authored journal articles and conference papers and chaired panels on U.S. immigration policy, student political participation and civic engagement, pedagogy in political science and women and politics.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning

Areas of Expertise

American Politics, Congress, Media and Politics, American Political Parties, American Elections

Education

University of Pennsylvania

Ph. D. Political Science

Point Park College

B.A. Political Science

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.