

Sarah Moeller

Assistant Professor at University of Florida

Gainesville, FL, US

Sarah Moeller's research focuses on applying computational methods to documentary and descriptive linguistics.

Biography

Sarah Moeller is a professor in the Department of Linguistics in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Her research is focused on applying computational methods to documentary and descriptive linguistics. She also is working to improve natural language processing systems using insights from linguistic analysis. Sarah also has an interest in minority languages of the former Soviet Union, where she first encountered language endangerment and did fieldwork on the Nakh-Daghestanian languages.

Areas of Expertise

Languages of the Former Soviet Union, Artificial Intelligence, Computational Linguistics, Linguistics, Endangered Languages, Natural Language Processing, Grammar

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.