

Stacey Steinberg

Director/Professor at University of Florida

Gainesville, FL, US

Stacey Steinberg's research explores the intersection of a parent's right to share online and a child's interest in privacy.

Biography

Stacey Steinberg is the director of the Center on Children and Families in the Levin College of Law. She also is the supervising attorney for the Gator TeamChild Juvenile Law Clinic and is a master legal skills professor. Her research explores the intersection of a parent's right to share online and a child's interest in privacy. She is an internationally sought after expert on children's privacy and sharenting and is the author of "Growing Up Shared: How Parents Can Share Smarter on Social Media and What You can Do to Keep Your Family Safe in a No-Privacy World." Before joining the law faculty, Stacey served as a felony prosecutor handling crimes involving child abuse, child pornography, domestic violence and rape. As a practitioner, Stacey provided training to lawyers, police officers and social workers on matters relating to child abuse, neglect and trial procedure. She also worked as a senior attorney for Children's Legal Services.

Areas of Expertise

Family Law, Child Welfare, Online Safety, Sharenting, Children's Privacy, Children's Rights, Social Media, Child Abuse and Neglect, Digital Citizenship

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.