Tai Ming Cheung

Professor of International Relations & Director at UC San Diego

La Jolla, CA, US

Tai Ming Cheung is a expert on Chinese and East Asian defense, innovation and national security affairs.

Biography

Cheung is the director of the University of California Institute on Global Conflict and Cooperation (IGCC) and leads the institute's Study of Innovation and Technology in China project that examines China's efforts to become a world-class science and technology power. He is also a professor at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, where he teaches courses on Chinese foreign and defense policy and Chinese security and technology policy. Cheung is a long-time analyst of Chinese and East Asian defense and national security affairs, especially defense economic, industrial and science and technological issues. He was based in Asia from the mid-1980s to 2002 covering political, economic, and strategic developments in greater China. He was also a journalist and political and business risk consultant in northeast Asia. Cheung received his Ph.D. from the War Studies Department at King?s College, London University, in 2007. He is the author of "Fortifying China: The Struggle to Build a Modern Defense Economy" (Cornell University Press, 2009), editor of "Forging China's Military Might: A New Framework for Assessing Innovation" (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2014), and co-editor of "The Gathering Pacific Storm: Emerging US-China Strategic Competition in Defense Technological and Industrial Development" (Cambria Press, 2018).

Areas of Expertise

Defense Innovation, Chinese Science, Technology and Innovation, Chinese Political Economy, Chinese and East Asian Security and Defense Policy, Chinese Politics

Affiliations

International Institute for Strategic Studies : Member

Education

King?s College, London University
Ph.D. War Studies

Sussex University
B.A. International Relations,

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.