

William Doyle

Associate Professor of Public Policy and Higher Education at Vanderbilt University

Nashville, TN, US

An expert on how geography affects higher education attainment and the state of the financial aid system in America.

Biography

Will Doyle is co-author of College Affordability Diagnosis, a state-by-state look at the cost of higher education. His research includes evaluating the impact of higher education policy at the state level and political behavior as it affects higher education. He examines how geography affects higher education attainment and the impact of a college degree on earnings and civic engagement, including philanthropy and voting. Prior to joining Vanderbilt, he was Senior Policy Analyst at the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education.

Areas of Expertise

borrowing trends, Undergraduate Education, Borrowing for College, College Affordability, Higher Education Access, Higher Education Finances, College Debt, University Rankings, Politics of Higher Education, Higher Education Policy, Student Access and Success in Higher Education, Drop Out Rates, College Affordability by State, Higher Education, Community Colleges, loan aversion, Financial Aid and Scholarships in Higher Education, Financial Aid

Affiliations

Association for the Study of Higher Education, Association for Education Finance and Policy, NYU Steinhardt Institute for Higher Education Policy Fellow

Education

Stanford University

Ph.D. Higher Education

Stanford University

M.A. Political Science

Villanova University

B.A. Philosophy

Villanova University

B.A. Liberal Arts

Accomplishments

National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, Robert P. Huff Golden Quill Award for contributions to literature on financial aid 2014

Scholarly Paper Award, Journal of Education Finance. Article: "State spending on higher education: Testing the balance wheel over time?", co-authored with Jennifer Delaney 2012

AERA Outstanding Reviewer Award: Educational Evaluation and Policy Analysis 2007

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.