

Zach Hambrick

Professor, Department of Psychology and Director of The Expertise Lab at Michigan State University

East Lansing, MI, US

Professor Zach Hambrick's research focuses on individual differences in expertise.

Biography

David ?Zach? Hambrick is a professor of cognitive psychology whose research into the field of expertise has garnered widespread national media coverage and landed him an occasional writing gig in the New York Times.

Industry Expertise

Media - Print, Education/Learning, Publishing, Research, Media - Online, Health and Wellness

Areas of Expertise

Intelligence, Cognitive Psychology, Expertise

Affiliations

Journal of Experimental Psychology: General

Education

Georgia Institute of Technology
PhD Experimental Psychology

Georgia Institute of Technology
MS Experimental Psychology

Methodist College
BS Psychology

Accomplishments

Fellow of the Association for Psychological Science

2016 Fellow status is awarded to APS members who have made sustained outstanding contributions to the science of psychology in the areas of research, teaching, service, and/or application. Fellow status is typically awarded for one's scientific contributions, but may also be awarded for exceptional contributions to the field through the development of research opportunities and settings. Candidates will be considered after 10 years of postdoctoral contribution.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.